Democratic majority in house reduced by 126.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The republican landslide that sent twenty new republican members of the house of representatives from Ohio and Illinois did not materially change the political complexion of congressional delegations from other western states, late returns showed today.

Twenty-three other western and middle states from Ohio to California gave the republicans a net gain of four members of the lower house.

To offset this the democrats made a net gain of at least one United States senator and elected democratic governors in Minnesota, Nebraska, Michigan and Wyoming. On the other hand Ohio rejected Gov. Cox, democrat, and elected Congressman Willis, republican, to the state house and Colorado supplanted a democratic executive by George Carlson, republican.

In practically all western states, with the exception of those on the Pacific coast, the progressive vote slipped away, most of it going to the republican candidates.

Practically complete returns today showed that Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, republican, was re-elected to the senate in Illinois over Roger C. Sullivan, democrat, by a plurality of 15,000. In Utah, where the result was in doubt, Senator Reed Smoot has been re-elected over James H. Moyle, democratic-fusion candidate, by about 1,000. In Colorado, Senator Thomas, democrat, has a lead of 2,300 over Hubert Work, republican, but Work still claims his election.

Dems Win in South Dakota

In south Dakota the democrats turned a surprise by electing Edward S. Johnson to the United States senate over Congressman Burke, republican. Another South Dakota democrat, Harry L. Gandy, apparently has defeated W. G. Rice, republican, for congress from the third district.

The race in Kansas is undecided.

SOCIALISTS OUST "BOB" C. M'CALEB

Party Candidate for Lieut. Governor Voted Out for Violation of Constitution

WANTED ANOTHER ORGANIZATION

Sought to Create Society Known as "Real Socialists" Which Was Forbidden by La Crosse Local

Robert C. McCaleb, social democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Wisconsin at Tuesday's election, was ousted from the La Crosse "local" of the organization at a meeting last night. The vote is said to have been unanimous.

The charges against McCaleb are said to have been violation of article XIV of the constitution which prohibits the creation of a dual organization without the consent of the existing local.

McCaleb, it is understood, following the recent filing and dropping of charges against him in the present organization, attempted to form an organization to be known as the "Real Socialists."

To secure a charter it became necessary to apply to the state executive board of the party at Milwaukee. It is understood that the charter was refused.

McCaleb has been a speaker for the party for several years and has been used to some advantage in certain parts of the country. Dissatisfaction arose in the local union over his alleged attempts to dominate the organization.

YOUNGSTER BEATS DEAN OF SENATE

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 5.—Richard Jones, socialist lawyer, candidate for state senate, has a substantial lead over Thomas Pugh, the oldest member of that body, and has probably won. Jones is 27. He was formerly a telegraph operator and was once famous as the youngest station agent on the Great Northern, being appointed at the age of 12.

BLIND MAN CHOICE OF GOPHER DISTRICT

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—Thomas D. Schall, who is totally blind, is admittedly elected as congressman from the Tenth district of Minnesota by 1,200. Schall is a graduate of the University and a practicing attorney. While attempting to light a cigar with an automatic lighter, an explosion occurred and the shock rendered him totally blind.

DEMOCRATS WIN BY OFFICIAL CANVASS

Board Declares Both Jolivette and George Ritter to Be Clerk and Sheriff for Two Years

SCHULZE AND DERR WANT RECOUNT

Defeated Republicans Maintain Returns in Certain Wards Are Inaccurate on Their Offices

It was announced this afternoon that E. O. Schulze, defeated candidate for county clerk, and E. H. Derr, defeated candidate for sheriff, will demand a recount of certain wards in the city of La Crosse.

Both men, republicans, claim that the returns were not accurately counted.

Sheriff—George Ritter.
County Clerk—Bert A. Jolivette.

This was the result of the canvass made this morning by the official county canvassing board.

Both the republican candidate for sheriff, Derr, and E. O. Schulze, republican candidate for county clerk, claimed the election, because of the extreme closeness of the vote between themselves and their democratic opponents.

On the sheriff fight the canvassing board found 2,896 votes for Ritter and 2,850 for Derr.

In the fight for county clerk the board counted 2,863 votes for Jolivette and 2,833 for Schulze.

Following are the results of the canvass board's counting this afternoon in six county offices:

Register of Deeds—
Thompson	3,214

WISCONSIN UNDER U. S. CATTLE BAN

State Quarantined When Foot and Mouth Disease Is Found at Evansville

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The federal quarantine against interstate shipments of livestock because of the foot and mouth disease, was extended to Wisconsin and Ohio this afternoon by the department of agriculture. New cases were found in Toledo, Fostoria, Norwalk, Ohio and Evansville, Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 5.—The foot and mouth disease has made its appearance in Wisconsin. Sixty cattle in a herd belonging to Chester Miller of Evansville, near here, today, were discovered to be infected with the disease.

Dr. R. J. Begman of Milwaukee, representing the United States bureau of animal industry, ordered the diseased animals shot. They will be buried in a deep trench and the bodies will be destroyed by quicklime. Miller received the cattle from the Union Stock Yards, Chicago.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 5.—Dr. O. H. Eliason, state veterinarian, has ordered immediate steps taken to prevent the spread of the foot and mouth disease in this state. He is investigating the cases discovered at Evansville.

FERRIS LEADS BY 35,000

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5.—Gov. Ferris has been re-elected by a plurality over former Gov. Osborn that probably will reach 35,000.

HEAVY GUN FIRE REPORTED OFF THE COAST OF BRITAIN

No Word Given Out on Reported Sortie of Cruiser Squadron from Wilhelmshaven

DOUBT GERMAN VICTORY CLAIM

British Refuse to Accept Story of Serious Defeat Off Coast of Chile

LIGHT GERMAN CRUISER IS SUNK

Yorcke Goes Down After Hitting Mine in Jade Bay; Japs After Von Spee's Fleet

SOUTHWOLD, England, Nov. 5.—Heavy cannonading was reported from the North sea today. It is not known whether the British warships were engaged in gunnery practice, or whether they have been engaged with the German squadron which was reported to have left its Wilhelmshaven base.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The admiralty had no information this afternoon explaining the cannon firing on the North sea reported from Southwold.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A British mine layer has been sunk by striking a mine in the North sea off Lowestoft. Eight members of the crew were lost.

BY ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Despite unprecedented activity on the part of the chief heads of the admiralty the censorship on all naval movements was absolutely ironclad today. As a result many rumors of impending fighting on the sea were widely circulated. There is no disguising the alarm felt in some quarters over the report that a strong German squadron—one report has it comprised of four dreadnoughts and four armored cruisers—has slipped into the North sea cleared for action. Such a squadron might cause much damage by bombarding coast cities.

Squadron Baited Trap

The fact that the German squadron which engaged the torpedo gunboat Halcyon last Tuesday and sunk a British submarine was within ten miles of the English coast is admitted. It is plain that this squadron was a baited trap and they hoped to lure the British light cruiser squadron which went into pursuit into the mine fields. The destruction of the D-5 probably saved the loss of one or more cruisers.

The fact that the light German cruiser Yorcke was sunk by striking a German mine in the Jade bay is a cause of satisfaction here. There is no confirmation of the report printed by The Times that the German cruiser Konigsburg has been sunk by Japanese warships in the Indian ocean.

No Word From Chile

The government is still without word from Admiral Cradock regarding the battle off the Chilean coast. Until the British side of the conflict can be learned the admiralty refuses to accept the German story. It is claimed here the very fact that Dresden and Leipzig did not accompany Admiral Von Spee's squadron into Valparaiso harbor would indicate that they may have been sunk. The admiralty would also like to locate the battleship Canopus, which was supposed to be a part of Admiral Cradock's squadron.

Although no information is available here it is known that steps have already been taken to find Von Spee's fleet. The Japanese have a large fleet in the Pacific, part of it in the vicinity of Easter Island and part of it near Honolulu, and there are reasons to believe that it has already started to locate the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and the Nurnberg. The Japanese fleet is headed by the battle cruiser Konga, swiftest and heaviest of her type in the world.

SUFFRAGE FIGHT IS UNDICIDED IN MONTANA; NEED FINAL COUNT

Suffrage Leaders Claim the State but General Opinion is that Result Will be in Doubt Until Official Tally

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 5.—Suffrage leaders are claiming Montana for suffrage on the face of incomplete returns, but the general opinion is it will require the official count to settle the question. Silver Bow county (Butte) gave a plurality of fifty-one for suffrage. Two democratic congressmen have been elected.

Carries in Nevada.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 5—Suffrage has undoubtedly carried in Nevada. Returns today from 105 precincts out of 240 in the state give: For suffrage, 3,619; against, 2,508.

ALL IN READINESS FOR CHARITY BALL TOMORROW NIGHT

Decorations and Gowns Are Completed and Signs Point to Record Smashing

EXPECT MANY OF YOUNGER FOLKS

Have Had Larger Share in Preparation for Annual Function Than Ever Before

MANY FROM OUTSIDE ATTEND

Miss Anna Colman and Alex Moll Will Lead the Dancers in Intricate Grand March

Generosity is Gratitude

In a nation at peace the echoes of war may stir generous impulses. It is a little harder but immensely more gratifying to be liberal under the tightening impulse of disaster afar. Misfortunes of others, past understanding, give a keener appreciation of humanitarian obligations and a clearer perception of legitimate beneficiaries. Soon we shall have Thanksgiving, and how sincere then our gratification that God has spared us the calamity of the nations. In contemplation of this great boon, is it not fitting that we embrace an opportunity to join in the pleasant emotions of social intercourse where Charity is the guest of honor? Generosity is the sincerest expression of gratitude.

Gowns are finished, decoration is practically completed, and preparations for the Charity ball, the city's biggest and most brilliant annual function, are in their final stages today. The committees in charge of the event are tucking in the loose ends of detail today, and by noon tomorrow everything will be in readiness for the concert which will open the festivities.

Predict Record Crowd

Leaders of the women in charge today predicted that Germania hall will be crowded to its utmost capacity tomorrow night. They assert that attendance will surpass that of any former year, particularly because the younger generation is expected to attend in great number along with their elders. The decorations have been in the hands of the younger women this year, and this, together with the popularity of the new dances, is expected to have a material effect toward increasing the attendance.

Many persons from out of the city will attend, as has been the case for some years past. Many prominent local people have arranged parties for the occasion. The number of out of town guests who will appear, it is predicted today, will be larger than ever.

Fix Concert Program

The concert which has become an annual event connected with the Charity ball will begin at 8:30. The program has been arranged as follows:

March, "Spic and Span," F. Losey.
Overture, "Bridal Rose," Levallee.
Waltz, "Love's Melody," L. Danideriff.
Selection, "Wedding Trip," R. De Koven.

Kreutz's orchestra will play for the concert and dance.

Pretty Grand March

The grand march is to be one of the most picturesque features of the evening, both for the dancers and the onlookers, who at every previous charity ball have equalled if not outnumbered the active participants. Under the leadership of Miss Anna Colman and Alex Moll, assisted by Miss Louise Easton and Stanley Gordon; Miss Gertrude Tausche and Earl Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Hyde, a number of intricate evolutions and handsome figures will be performed, the leaders having been evolving the formations for a week or more past.

Committees

The management of the floor during the evening has been delegated to Andrew Lees, Earl Richmond and Alex Moll. The other committees are:

General chairman—Mrs. George H. Gordon.

Tickets—Mrs. A. Hirshheimer, Mrs. Joseph W. Skinner, Mrs. Louis P. Benezet, Mrs. Harry M. Curtis, Mrs. Edwin M. Wing, Mrs. Dan G. MacMillan.

Music and dance program—Mrs. John A. Bayer, Mrs. Arthur P. Hankerson.

Decorating—Misses Easton, Colman, Tausche, Doerflinger, Leona Doerflinger, Gund, Janet Anderson.

HUSTING LEADING M'GOVERN FOR THE SENATORSHIP

Democrat Claims to Have "Inside Information" that Gives Him Toga by at Least 6,300

CONCEDED THAT RACE IS CLOSE

Milwaukee Journal Admits that if McGovern Wins It Will Be by Only 400 or 500 Votes

Instead of the election of Francis E. McGovern as United States senator, as claimed in Milwaukee yesterday, following the receipt of early election night returns, the democratic candidate, Paul O. Husting, Mayville, today claims the election by 6,300, this based on figures which he says are not in the hands of Milwaukee newspapers.

The Journal, a leading Milwaukee publication, admits that the senatorship fight is "close" and that if McGovern is elected it will not be by more than 400 or 500 votes.

Price county is still to be heard from together with a few precincts in other districts.

The Milwaukee Sentinel gives Husting, according to its latest returns, 121,196 to McGovern's 117,023.

Governor Francis E. McGovern has declined to be interview, maintaining that he will remain quiet until the final count is made.

Republican state headquarters in Milwaukee maintain that he will be the next senator with 2,000 votes to spare. The headquarters admit that they have not complete returns.

SEA FIGHTERS COME OVERLAND

Torpedo Boats and Submarines Are Being Sent to Bruges for Expected Raid on English Coast

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Nov. 5.—Turkish warships have sunk two Russian passenger steamers in the Black sea, after forcing the passengers and crew to take to the boats.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 5.—It is reported here that two British cruisers are now bombarding the town of Jaffa.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—All uncertainty regarding Turkey's position was ended today. The foreign office officially announced that England has declared war on Turkey and it is expected that this action will immediately be followed by France, Russia, Servia, Montenegro and possibly by Belgium and Japan.

The Turkish government yesterday withdrew all of her diplomatic representatives from Servia, England, Russia and France and Russian troops have already invaded Turkey, while the Anglo-French fleet is bombarding the Dardanelles.

Together with the announcement of allies' victories in Belgium, in which the Germans are said to be retreating at practically all points, comes a story from The Hague that huge reinforcements are passing through Liege for the German army in Belgium, indicating that the setback when the dykes were out, stopping the German advance, has not changed the kaiser's determination to capture the Belgian sea coast cities.

The dispatch from The Hague says:

"Enormous numbers of German reinforcements are enroute to France and West Flanders. Reports from Liege state that for the last three days long trains loaded with singing soldiers have been passing through the city from Aix La Chapelle. Two hundred cars passed through in one day and were followed by eight trains loaded with ammunition and several carrying submarines and torpedo boats in sections.

It is believed certain that the Germans are determined not only to hack their way through to the coast cities but that they also plan operations against the English coast. The torpedo boats and submarines have been sent direct to Bruges, where naval reserves have been massed.

Destroyers in Channel

It is reported that seven German destroyers have been seen off the Belgian coast. It is supposed that they have been used for scouting purposes.

The Germans have laid mines along the coast from Ostend north, according to late reports.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—11 a. m.—The British admiralty is reluctant to admit the victory of Admiral Von Spee off the Chilean coast, due to the failure of all reports of the conflict to mention the British battleship Canopus. The Canopus had been sent to reinforce Admiral Cradock's squadron, but apparently she was not there at the crisis. She is armed with four twelve inch guns and had she been present at the battle, her fire would have given to the British squadron that preponderance of artillery which actually was possessed by the Germans.

Apparently, Admiral Von Spee and Admiral Cradock had been maneuvering to catch the other in inferior strength, and the German commander won the strategic game. The Canopus is a sixteen year old battleship with a speed of 18.5 knots per hour. The Good Hope and the Monmouth each have made twenty-three knots, and the Glasgow can steam at twenty-five knots per hour. At the time the battle was fought, the weather was bad. The speedier British cruisers may have become separated from the more ponderous battleship, thus permitting the Germans to seize advantage.

Great Britain's declaration of war on Turkey shows it is believed hopeless to rely on the peace party at Constantinople holding the pro-German Young Turks in check. Under these circumstances and with Russia forcing the fighting along the Caucasian frontier, Great Britain's quick assumption of the offensive contains advantageous possibilities.

Without in any way suggesting rivalry to Russia it is probable that there will be in reality a race between the Russians by land and the Anglo-French forces by sea, to capture Constantinople. An Anglo-French fleet has begun shelling the Dardanelles defenses and it is apparent that Great Britain and France will make every effort to seize the Dardanelles and compel Constantinople to surrender to a battleship squadron.

This is the only way the two western powers can offset Russia's desire to subdue Turkey single handed. Neither French nor British armies can be spared for operations in Turkey, and only the Mediterranean fleet can be counted upon to represent France and Great Britain in the Turkish operations.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

ENGLAND—Great Britain today formally declared war upon Turkey and her example is expected soon to be followed by the other allied powers. Various rumors of naval battles have been received in London but none is confirmed by the admiralty.

FRANCE—The war office announces that the allies are advancing at many points and that where they are not advancing they are holding the Germans in check. The Germans are attempting to break the allied line between Labassee and the Somme with their heavy artillery.

RUSSIA.—The Russian war office claims that the Germans are again retreating along the east Prussian frontier; that the Austrians are being defeated in Galicia and that the Russian army invading Turkey has penetrated the frontier at several points. The invading columns are made up of cavalry supported by artillery mounted on automobiles.

GERMANY.—Strong columns of German reinforcements are reported passing through Liege enroute to West Flanders and France. The Germans are also transporting torpedo boats and submarines to Bruges, where they can be sent by canal to See Brugge for operations.

NO CESSATION IN BOMBARDMENT OF ORIENTAL FORTRESS

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—The Japanese admiralty in a statement issued today declares that the bombardment of Tsing Tao, the fortified city of Kiao Chau, continues without cessation. Reports have been received that Gov. Waldek has been wounded and that a good part of the city has been burned, but so far the Germans refuse to consider a demand that they surrender.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PHILIPP CARRIES CHASEBURG BY 50

CHASEBURG, Wis., Nov. 5.—At the election held here Tuesday E. L. Philipp carried the town by a plurality of 50. With him, he carried the entire republican ticket. The vote for governor was as follows: Philipp 63, Blaine 13, Karel 4. An unusually light vote was cast, due probably to the fact that the out of town voters are busily engaged at this time of the year.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — A Famous French Literary Simpleton.

"EVER hear anything about Calino, the French simple fellow, kiddies?" asked daddy.

The children snuggled close and cried "No!" together, just like that.

"Well," said daddy, "sometimes the people created in books by writers who really know how to write get to be just as real to our minds as a person who lived in flesh and blood.

"Calino is such a person, and he sails blithely through the humorous literature of France much the same as the Irish 'Paddy' does in English literature. Alice in Wonderland, too, seems like a real little girl, although Lewis Carroll makes her do the most impossible things in his book.

"Well, this Calino is made to say the funniest things.

"For instance, one day at school he got into a fight with another boy and went home to his daddy with a deep gash on his forehead.

"His daddy, of course, was very much scared and inquired how he got the awful cut.

"'What cut, daddy?' foolishly asked little Calino, though he might have known very well what his daddy meant.

"'Why, that cut on your head, of course!' replied his daddy.

"'I bit myself there, papa,' said Calino.

"'Why, child, you couldn't bite your own forehead!' said Daddy Calino

"'Oh, yes, daddy! I got up on to a chair and did it,' calmly announced this little simpleton.

"One morning Calino rose early and went out with his gun to get some game.

"Over in the garden of his friend Camille he saw a robin up in a tree. He aimed at it, but it flew down back of the fence out of the range of his gun.

"Then Calino went to his friend Camille's house, crept upstairs softly, stole into Camille's bedroom without waking him, who was sound asleep in his bed, pointed his gun out of the window at the robin and fired.

"Bang!

"Of course Camille jumped out of bed in great alarm.

"'What is the matter?' he shouted.

"'Oh, did I wake you up?' asked Calino, very much surprised. 'I pulled the trigger very softly.'"

The children both laughed gleefully. "He was a funny fellow, wasn't he, daddy?"

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

BILLETING AND BARBARA

BY HARMONY WELLER

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Even after war had been declared and the troops were actually on the march, Barbara Heathcote failed to realize the gravity of the situation. Comfortably ensconced in her great country bungalow, surrounded by servants and every luxury, she did not see the necessity of worrying abot a war which would not upset her own well ordered existence.

Barbara had not stopped to realize that the little village of Bedfordshire was right on the line of march, nor did she know that, being a householder, she would be ordered to provide temporary shelter for officers and men of the troops when they should pass on the way to battlegrounds.

It was with great surprise that she found herself watching an officer retreating from her door after billeting a score of soldiers on her. She had been asked, "In the name of the king," to provide shelter for a day or two for the men on the march, and Barbara had been first indignant, then indifferent. Her servants, she decided, could make provision for the soldiers.

But Barbara's equilibrium was upset. War had been forced into her consciousness and she wished the troops had taken another route to the battle grounds. She disliked annoyance of any kind, for she was selfish and self-centered.

"Where will these troops sleep?" she asked of her old servant.

"On the veranda, Miss Barbara, and in the garden," replied Jenkins, more excited than the soldiers themselves. "We will feed them in the servants' hall."

When Jenkins had gone Barbara's brow puckered. She well knew that fighting men were accustomed to hardship, but the thought of them sleeping on wooden floors or perhaps in the dew-dampened garden was not pleasant. Certainly it would disturb her own night's rest to have them there. During the day, however, she tried to harden herself by the thought that there was much worse ahead of them than sleeping in sheltered gardens.

In the evening when a score or more of tired but laughing soldiers in khaki came trooping through the great hedge gate Barbara watched them with quickly beating heart. Somehow and without warning a sharp emotion gripped her. She tried to stifle a desire to cry, and wondered why she should feel so helpless all of a sudden. The men were big and brave and were going off happily to fight for their country and their womenfolk. She, Barbara, who was nourished and cared for as if she were a hothouse bud, was miserable, and the realization of her own smallness dawned on her.

She looked again at the men, now going toward the back of the house, and their war kits brought fresh emotion to Barbara's heart. They were going to battle for perhaps months and maybe years with that small provision for comfort. Never before had Barbara seen the troops in full war kit, and the meagerness of their equipment appalled her. She who had slept beneath rose-colored eider-downs all her life could conceive of nothing so terrible as that pitiful supply of human comforts. She turned from the window and to the telephone.

"Jenkins," she called down to her old servants, "see that cook provides the best of everything for these men. Spare no expense or trouble to make them comfortable."

When she had hung up the receiver Barbara felt a trifle more like herself. After all, most of the men would return from the war. She was upsetting herself for vague fears. She tried to throw off the ghastly pictures that the sight of the troops had pu before her, but it was useless now that her very doorstep was thronged with soldiers to feel other than fearful for the burden of worry had not been flung upon her. The thought sent a wave of shame over her. Perhaps for the first time in her entire life Barbara knew how despicably selfish she was. She was regretting the entrance into her life of that score of brave men, and the women who had lost them were no doubt weeping in anguish. Barbara felt the sting of her own weakness and the utter uselessness of her life.

"Even my servants are doing something for those men," she told herself when she heard a burst of laughter from the direction of the lower dining hall. "They don't know I am in the house," she added thoughtfully. "I am an atom in this world and each of those men is a king." Barbara pondered then as she had never pondered before. Her own insignificance, the desperate reality of the war and its suffering, together with the misery that must come in the wake of the battle, all these thoughts held Barbara Heathcote in a grip of introspection. So long did she sit in the darkness that before she knew it the troops billeted on her had ceased their laughter and flung themselves down on veranda and garden lawn to woo sleep as best they might.

Barbara jumped up and peered down at them and the tears blurred her sight. A pale moon threw her radiance on the upturned faces of the of the men and on their rifles and caps. An occasional murmur told Barbara that sleep had not as yet claimed them.

With sudden inspiration Barbara went into the drawing room and began singing gently so as not to startle the men. Her voice filtering through the open windows swept like the touch of angel wings over the soldiers' emotions, and not one of them spoke a word.

A young lieutenant surreptitiously brushed the moisture from his eyes with khaki colored sleeves. His sweetheart had tried to sing for him that song at parting, but her voice had broken.

Stop! Barbara's voice, too, had broken. She jumped up and went swiftly into the moonlight among the soldiers. They arose as one man at her coming and stood looking at the slim white figure.

"I can't stand it to have you sleeping out here," she said breathlessly. "You must all come inside. I will have all the room necessary." She smiled when they demurred, and commanded in amost adorable manner. "Plese let me have my way," she said. "I have never done anything in my whole life for any one save myself. Please let me do what I can now." And because she was crying Barbara hastened to help Jenkins make up the many beds in the great house. It cheered her considerably to be doing some trifling thing in the war movement, and out of the joy she derived from making up those beds Barbara knew that never more could she be happy while there were those in the world less fortunate than she.

The troops remained only until the morning of the third day, and when they had marched off with their bands playing and a smile on their lips Barbara wept as if her heart would break.

Bedfordshire was impossible to her after that. The life of ease and luxury was not to be borne. She could not sit idly by and wait for news from the front; she must go and be a part of that working contingent and do her mite.

Barbara knew that somewhere, some day, after the great war was over she would again stand beside the young lieutenant commander who had slept beneath her roof on the way to battle. His eyes had told her that he would come back to her, and Barbara was living only for that day and for the good she might do to be worthy of him.

"I am glad," thought Barbara, "that I lived on the line of marching. Otherwise I might never have known Lieut. Commander Blakely." She smiled softly and added. "And yet—I must surely have met him some day."

Free Yourself of Catarrh

Driven from Head, Throat, Stomach and Blood by Gauss' New Combined Treatment.

No use driving Catarrh from place to place. The thing to do is to kill the germs wherever they are. That is the secret of success in this remarkable new discovery, by C. E. Gauss, who has been fighting catarrh for many years. From the inflamed tissues the germs are driven by a positive local treatment, and when they flee to the blood they are destroyed by a wonderful internal remedy.

A Trial Treatment is Free

This Combined Treatment is so important to every Catarrh sufferer that Mr. Gauss wants each one to try it and prove its merits. Hence, this offer to send, asolutely free, to all who ask for it, a trial treatment consisting of both the local and internal remedies. That is the way to find out—by testing it yourself. If it will bring to you freedom from that bothersome, loathsome and dangerous Catarrh you should know it. Here is your Chance!

All you need to do is to go to Hoeschler Bros. or any druggist's, and purchase a $1.00 package of Gauss' Combined Catarrh Treatment, or send your address today to C. E. Gauss, 6567 Main St., Marshall, Mich., for the FREE Trial Treatment to prove it.

"BIG VICTORY" IS BURLESON'S WORD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—"The election is an overwhelming victory all along the ine," declared Postmaster General Burleson, after a conference at the White house this afternoon.

"It is the first time in the history of the country, with one exception, that the party in power carried the house after revising the tariff," he said, "and this one exception occurs with the passage of the Dingley tariff, when the republicans had the advantage of a general patriotism caused by the Spanish war. Then they only won out by a majority of twelve members in the house."

"Our majority in the house," said Secretary Tumulty, "will run from 29 to 45."

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A naval aeroplane collapsed over Salisbury Plain today killing the aviator, Naval Lieut. D. Murray.

IS YOUR HAIR RIGHT FOR THE NEW FALL STYLES?

You will delight in arranging your hair in the new and interesting modes of this season if you keep it perfectly soft and fluffy so that it appears naturally heavy. This will be a simple matter if you use the right shampoo. It is not advisable to use a makeshift but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

HEATERS and RANGES

We are showing a new and strictly up-to-date line. A full line of Heaters in all sizes. Ranges in all the different grades and sizes. Common Cook Stoves and Laundry Stoves, Airtight and Reliable Oak Heaters, in fact most anything you want in the stove line. A comparison of our prices with others will convince you that we can show you a big saving. One of these stoves will greatly improve the comforts of your home.

GOVERNOR-ELECT EMANUEL PHILIPP

In his first utterance as governor-elect, Mr. Philipp has not made himself exactly clear as to his course. He declares his election is "the repudiation of the Wisconsin idea." Further, he says he will "reduce expenses without impairing the service." The "service" is the working of institutions that constitute the active agencies of the "Wisconsin idea."

The Sentinel attempts to explain by saying that the primary platform of the Philipp pre-primary meeting constitutes the party's pledges, although the platform convention's platform is a strong endorsement of the "Wisconsin idea" as at present developed. In his "personal platform," following his endorsement and participation in the making of the platform of the legal convention, Mr. Philipp opposes the future development of the "Wisconsin idea" but fails to repudiate it in its existing condition.

However, Mr. Philipp is governor-elect of Wisconsin, and to hope that he will be a good governor is better than to fear he will make a bad governor.

When he stood as a candidate before the people it was proper to discuss his associations, his interests and his record in order that the people might measure him as against other candidates in preparation for balloting. Now that he is elected the record that he shall make rather than that which he has made is of prime importance. Only in case he governs badly need we recall those past activities to which some of us object. Should he govern well and wisely, those who opposed him squarely and sincerely can well take him at the face value of his official service to the state.

ED KNEEN

Ed Kneen went hunting yesterday. It must have been fine out there in the woods, where a man can be alone with his soul.

How light the gun must have seemed—as light as the hunter's heart. There, alone with nature, with no leaden conscience to weigh upon one's spirits, one could look back over the long trail. A clean trail, and straight. No wronged laborer by the wayside; no burdened mother, weeping; no little child with pinched face. A clean trail, upon it the footprints of a man.

And then, turning, the broad way beyond! Flowers by the wayside, great, benignant trees; rest and peace.

How sad that civilization has still so much to achieve. We see the hand of labor strike its benefactor, but we do not blame the worker. Sinister designs of selfish men preying upon the baser emotions of the less informed and calling it God!

They who blaspheme must pay—enough of them. But a man strong in his convictions, clean in his thoughts, daring in his advocacy—a tower of strength, even in defeat—there is the Joseph to interpret the great dream of optimism.

PATLY PUT

Asked what he thought of the election result, Mr. Roosevelt read a passage from the daily lessons of the Episcopal church which has other applications than to the downfall of the bull moose party. The lesson for November 3, as read by Mr. Roosevelt, includes chapter 4, verse 3 and 4, of the second epistle of Paul to Timothy. The verses are as follows:

"For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers; having itching ears;

"And they shall turn away their ears from the truth and shall be turned unto fables."

PATRIOTS, PIONEERS

They who fight for truth against overwhelming odds today become the leaders of tomorrow.

La Follette went down to repeated defeats, always to struggle up still fighting, until came his power. Bryan was a byword to stigmatize the vagrant for years before his philosophy became the grab-bag of popularity-seeking politicians.

Bosshard, Thompson, Coburn, Schweizer, Kneen—patriots who told the truth when the army of the expedient shirked—they will be bulwarks of democracy when today's triumphant opportunists are again sighing for the "good old days."

It was a brave thing to do—to be independent when it would have been so easy to be "regular," so profitable to acquiesce in a party-justified political deceit.

Soon those who drifted in with the flood tide will find the tide ebbing. Then will come the demand for leadership. And leaders there will be—men of unscarred conscience, men tried by flood and fire, patriots and pioneers who in 1914 stepped, unafraid, into the wilderness.

Hayti is a half-horsepower republic with a speed of two revolutions per year.

And they could have had McConnell and Kneen!

Bill Adams was the only man who had the nerve to say it in print.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Twilight Witch

The twilight witch comes with her stars
And strews them through the blue;
Then breathes below the sunset bars
A breath of meadow rue;
She trails her veil across the skies
And mutters to the trees.
And in the wood, with firefly eyes
She wakes the mysteries,
The twilight witch, with elf and fay,
Is coming down the slumber way,
Sleep, my dearie, sleep.

The twilight witch, with crescent moon
Stoops on the wooded hill;
She answers to the owlet's tune,
And to the whippoorwill.
She leans above the reedy pool
And wakes the drowsy frog,
And with the toadstool, dim and cool,
Rims gray the old dead log.
The twilight witch comes stealing down
To take you off to slumber town,
Sleep, my dearie, sleep.

The twilight witch, with windlike tread
Has entered in the room;
She steals around your trundle-bed
And whispers in the gloom,
She says: "I brought my steed along
My fiery steed of gleams,
To bear you, like a breath of song,
Into the land of dreams.
I am the witch who takes your hand
And leads you off to fairyland,
The far-off land of sleep."
—Madison Cawein.

His Happiest Moment

A bachelor of considerable wealth was much sought after by many of the most charming young women of the town.

Minnie Rivers, a very pretty maiden, was sure she had brought him almost to the point of a proposal.

"What was the happiest moment of your life?" she asked, while they were taking a moonlight stroll one evening.

"The happiest moment of my life," answered the bachelor, with a reminiscent smile, "was when the jeweler took back an engagement ring and gave me some cuff links in exchange."—Harper's Magazine.

Business Before Pleasure

On one occasion when Queen Mary was on board the royal yacht, she sent a message to a certain member of the crew that she wanted to take his photograph. After a short interval her messager returned with the information that "he would come to her majesty in a few minutes."

Her majesty was not overpleased at the delay. "But I want him to come at once!" he said.

"Well, ma'am," was the worried reply of the messenger, "he would have come at once, but he's—he's—he's just on the point of being seasick."

King George, who was standing near and overheard the answer, is said to have laughed till the tears came.—Pearson's Weekly.

Early in the Season

"I am sorry, Mr. Bohnedd," says the beautiful girl, "what you ask is impossible. I am promised to another."

"Already engaged?" cried the infatuated young man. "How you have deceived me! Good-bye forever."

"Wait a minute—shan't I see you again?"

"Never!"

"Oh, it's early in the season. We'll run across each other at some summer resort."

"I shall never go to a summer resort."

"Then it really is good-bye. But I'm awfully sorry. I was thinking that if you should happen to be around I might give you an engagement later in the summer."—Cleeland Plain Dealer.

Supreme Mirth

The supreme court of the United States is absolutely and indisputably supreme when it comes to solemnity, dreariness and gloom. People do not laugh once a year in that funeral looking chamber. All you have to do is to set your foot inside it in order to understand that the dispensing of justice is a heavy, ponderous and serious affair.

Not long ago, however, Mr. Justice Lurton made the lawyers, the audience and the other justices laugh right out loud.

A lawyer from the south was arguing a case concerning two secret fraternal lodgees.

"May the court please," said the lawyer heartily, "the opposing judge not only got hold of our ritual and used it, but also got our insignia and regalia."

"Just a moment," interposed Judge Lurton. "Did they also get your goat?"—Popular Magazine.

Philosophical Financier

An old artisan who prided himself on his ability to drive a close bargain contracted to paint a huge barn in th eneighborhood for the small sum of $12.

"Why on earth do you agree to do it for so little?" his brother inquired.

"Well," said the old painter, "you see, the owner is a mighty onreliable man. If I'd said I'd charge him $25 likely he'd have only paid me $19. And if I charge him $12, he may not pay me but $9. So I thought it over and decided to paint it for $12 so I wouldn't lose so much."

"A gallant of gallants!" he exclaimed. His guest's face was clean shaven. Attired in his new garments, he looked like a well-born and distinguished young sheik of the desert. The dyer stared where the beard had been. "Did you not regret to part with it?"

"Why should I? Am I hadji (pilgrim) or bridegroom? Do I not wish to represent your friend worthily?"

The argument was unanswerable. Still the dervish had displayed an unexpected largeness of spirit in thus dispensing with the flaming insignia of holiness. The dyer acted as if he scarcely knew whether to be pleased or not.

"Why, your own brother would not know you," he haid at length.

"Wouldn't he?" returned the dervish with a peculiar and satisfied smile. He didn't add that to provide for a remote contingency, rather than to look the part of the conventional bridegroom, had been the real reason for this change of appearance. "Well, I'm ready."

So they sallied forth, not too ostentatiously, the bridegroom on an ass and the dyer astride of a sturdy little donkey, and presently drew up in front of a house. A thick-lipped, ebony-hued bawwab, or doorkeeper, of ferocious aspect, admitted the pair; at the same time a veiled woman who had apparently been waiting for them at once came forward.

"Behold the bridegroom!" said the dyer, not without some complacently. "You see I have been true to my promise, oh Light of Life."

She regarded the young man hastily; her eyes, in which shone suspicion, doubt and misgiving, fairly bored into him.

"I supposed it was a dervish—a good-for-nothing you were to find," she said in a shrewish voice.

"This is such a one," replied the dyer reassuringly.

"Yes; indeed, a good-for-nothing," interjected the dervish with his most amiable smile.

"You should have seen him last night," put in the dyer hastily. "Such rags! Of course, I had to dress him up, in order that the neighbors—you understand?"

"Humph!" she muttered. "In my early days a slave served on such occasions as this; now because there are no slaves, owing to the cursed Christians, we must go to the highways and gather in Allah knows whom."

"I trust, madam," said the dervish politely, "to make your daughter a good husband."

"Well," she returned sourly "there is no time to look further. The guests will soon be here. Follow."

He obeyed. She walked in a special atmosphere of venom all her own, which seemed fairly to radiate from her. When she spoke of the "cursed Christians," her tongue was as if dagger-tipped. A listener might divine that she had as much affection for them as an adder for those it would strike. Dominated by her presence, every nook and corner of the silent house suggested lurking perils. It had a mysterious look. The dervish glanced back toward the entrance to the street. The door leading out was now closed; the big black giant of a bowwab stood near by like a guardian presence suggestive of those overgrown demons that act as outer sentinels to an oriental temple. The eye of the large watcher met the dervish as the latter looked back with an expression that seemed to savor of malicious and infernal cunning, and involuntarily the young man straightened while his gaze became more keen and alert. Without hesitation, however, he strode after the woman through a narrow doorway. The smooth steps leading upward were slippery and he had to be careful. Once he nearly plunged forward, but the woman did not appear to note; she glided ahead like a specter.

"Wait!" They had arrived at a small room. She spoke the single word, then vanished. The dyer, too, had mysteriously disappeared. The dervish, left alone, looked around with a slightly strained affectation of nonchalance; he tried to act as if he felt at home, as this were the most natural place for him to be in. Teh attempt was not altogether successful. How quiet—how unnaturally quiet it was! He strode to the threshold but to find the door locked. Light of Life had turned the key on the outside when leaving. He was a prisoner? Well, not exactly, perhaps. Still, he couldn't get out. Had they locked him in there merely to sequester him temporarily from inquisitive women servants or other folk? Certainly this was strange treatment to accord a bridegroom. The door looked solid and substantial; the sunlight, gleaming grudgingly through a lattice, showed it to be of old-fashioned construction. Was this place a trap? If so, he might beat his fists in vain on those walls, he was telling himself, when a man's well-remembered voice somewhere without, was wafted to him.

Sadi's—he would have sworn to the saddler's tones. What was he doing there, unless—? The dervish listened more attentively, holding his breath. New he heard nothing. Silence which seemed deeper, more ominous ensued. The young man forced a laugh. Of course that could not have been Sadi out there. It was unreasonable to suppose him in this house. Unreasonable! The whole proposition for his (the dervish's) employment, as outlined by the dyer, was logical and clear; it could have veiled no complicated or ulterior motives. Still an oriental's mind is subtle and devious and he moves to an end in a most round-about fashion.

The dervish continued to stand stock still, his head slightly tilted, while around him the air seemed charged with vibrating waves. He was alone and yet the cognizance of another presence, close at hand, suddenly smote him. At one end of the room was a wooden screen separating this cell or apartment from another room; beyond was darkness. He thought he heard a movement and caught a quick indrawn breath. He knew now some one he could not see was regarding him, looking him up and down, studying him. He could almost feel that burning gaze. It began to get more disconcerting. He salaamed politely.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

QUARANTINE NOT TO RAISE PRICES

Six Hundred Feeders Killed and Buried and Prize Dairy Cows Go the Same Way

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Meat prices will not be perceptibly affected by the closing of the great Chicago Stock Yards to curb the foot and mouth disease, Edward Tilden, president of Libby, McNeil & Libby, said today.

While final shipments of cattle to the stock yards were being received, 600 feeders, found to be infected with the disease, were being slaughtered and their carcasses covered with quicklime and buried in a long trench. Eleven fine dairy cows appraised at several thousands of dollars, received the same treatment.

The quarantine order closing the yards for ten days begins tomorrow night.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE INTO TURKEY SAY PETROGRAD STORIES

Rumor Black Sea Battle Has Taken Place; Germans Deny Capture of Big Detachment

PETROGRAD, Nov. 5.—It is announced that the Russian Caucasian army which is invading Turkey has advanced several miles into Turkey and now occupies several villages. No news is at hand regarding the operations of the Black sea fleet, although rumors that a battle has taken place are current.

It is officially announced that the Germans are again withdrawing into East Prussia. It is declared that they are moving toward their original battle line between Lyck and Biala. Meanwhile, the Russian advance beyond the Vistula continues. The Russians are also pushing beyond Kielce which is now held by the Russians. In the fighting there 15,000 soldiers, 200 officers and a number of cannon and machine guns were taken.

Deny Russian Claims

BERLIN, No. 5.—Via Wireless Through Sayville, L. I., to the United Press.—Official denial was made today of the Russian claims that in the recent fighting on the east front they took many German prisoners and captured numerous cannon and machine guns.

ADMINISTRATION FACES PROBLEMS

Colorado and Mexican Situations Take Center of Stage with Decision of Elections

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—With elections out of the way, administration officials began to give renewed attention to two serious problems—the Mexican situation and the Colorado strike.

Every indication today pointed to some decisive action to bring to an end the political uncertainties south of the Rio Grande. Continued reports of anti-American agitation give alarm to officials. Carranza's silence—his only answer to United States' demands—was another vexatious problem. Indications were today that the administration would not brook delay much longer.

In the Colorado strike situation, election of a republican governor of Colorado lent a new complication. What his attitude toward presence of federal troops in the strike district will be, officials here do not know. While the White House denies the president is "contemplating" closing down or taking over the Colorado mines he nevertheless has asked the department of justice what his powers in the circumstances are.

REPUBLICANS WIN COLORADO BATTLE

Democrats Snowed Under on State Slate but Lead for Senate; State Goes Dry

DENVER, Col., Nov. 5.—The plurality of George Carlson, republican for governor of Colorado will be approximately 50,000 over T. M. Patterson, democrat. Complete returns from Denver and partial returns from forty-four other counties made this certain today.

Summarized, the returns show that, with the exception of Farrar for attorney general, and Teller for supreme justice, the whole democratic state ticket has been snowed under. Thomas, democrat for United States senator, has a lead of 2,300, which the republicans allege will be overcome, electing Work, republican. The congressional delegation will probably contain three democrats and one republican.

The state has gone dry. Practically all doubt was removed today when returns from forty-nine counties gave the drys a plurality of 12,083.

SOCIABILITY RUNS BECOME POPULAR

One of the many "fads" of the life of the motorist and one which is growing more popular each year, is the sociability run. Especially is this true in the middle west and on the coast, due, undoubtedly, to the wonderful scenic trips which are to be found there.

One of these runs was attempted the other day from Steamboat Springs to Denver, Col. The trip covered a distance of 160 miles and the entries included most of the well known makes of cars.

A large crowd awaited the participants in Denver and when a Maxwell touring car came in sight the winner of the run, it was given a great ovation. This medium priced car had won over those larger and more expensive cars and it was indeed a great victory.

RESINOL WILL HEAL YOUR SKIN

Stops Itching Instantly, and Clears Away Unsightly Eruptions.

No matter how long you have been tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, raw or scaly skin humors, just put a little of that soothing, antiseptic Resinol Ointment on the sores and the suffering stops right there! Healing begins that very minute, and your skin gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on useless, tedious treatments.

Resinol is also an excellent household remedy for pimples, dandruff, sores, burns, bruises, boils, and for a score of other uses where a soothing, healing application is needed. It contains nothing of a harsh or injurious nature and can be used with confidence on the tenderest or most irritated surface. Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c.). For trial free, write to Dept. KK, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Ask for Resinol by name and thus avoid "substitutes" sometimes offered by unscrupulous dealers.

WAR ODDITIES

COPENHAGEN.—Extensive purchases of well seasoned limewood are being made by a German buyer. He explained that limewood is the best for artificial legs desired for wounded soldiers.

LONDON.—"I will consider the case and do my best to decide against you," said Justice Bailhache to a solicitor appearing for a German insurance company that had sought to avoid payment to an English claimant on a technicality.

BELFAST.—Twenty-five thousand Ulstermen have joined the British army, according to latest returns from recruiting stations throughout the province.

Best Treatment for All Complexion Ills

I'll tell you my panacea for all complexion troubles. If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, if it be rough, chapped, blotchy, pimply, or freckled, there's nothing that will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. The wax literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, so gently, gradually, you experience no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, one so clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful, you look many years younger. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is smeared on like cold cream before retiring and removed mornings with warm water. The mercolized wax habit is a healthier and more economical one than the cosmetic habit.

If the skin be wrinkled or creased, bathe it daily in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This acts immediately, affecting even the deepest wrinkles.—Elsie Desmond, in Beauty's Mirror.

WELSH ARRIVES IN WINDY CITY

Champion Trains for Bout with Charley White at Milwaukee on Monday; Wolgast Favors Welsh

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. — Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight boxer, arrived in Chicago Wednesday, and a more modest titleholder never entered this neck of the woods. He came in with his wife and Manager Harry Pollack from New York, where he recently defeated Ad Wolgast in eight rounds. The champion was a busy fellow soon after his arrival, but he abandoned his paying visits and knuckled down to work Wednesday afternoon at Forbes' gymnasium, where he went through light exercise and a few rounds of boxing for a crowd of local fans.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Ad Wolgast, who had a fling at Freddie Welsh in New York Monday night and ought to know, declared today that Charley White has just one chance to beat the lightweight champion at Milwaukee November 9. White may win by a knockout, said the Cadillac "Bear Cat" but it's a slim, slim chance.

SIX MEN DIE IN BUNK HOUSE FIRE

New York Lodging House Is Gutted by Flames and Half Dozen Are Trapped in Building

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Six men were killed and a dozen firemen injured in a spectacular fire which destroyed a four story lodging house at 352 Eighth avenue, early today. There were fifty-two men packed in the lodging house stalls when the fire broke out, and forty of them were rescued by being carried down ladders or swung across to the roofs of adjoining buildings.

Firemen believe the fire may have been started by an explosion of naptha as they learned the proprietor of the house had been cleaning beds with this product. The blaze started in a back room and spread to the stairway, cutting off escape.

Firemen were beating through the flames when there was a terrific explosion. Furniture was blown clear out of the windows and a dozen fire fighters were seriously burned.

WHITE SLAVE FILM AT THE MAJESTIC

One of the best pictures ever produced on the white slavery problem is the "Traffic in Souls," a six reel picture to be shown at the Majestic for the last half of the week, starting tomorrow. The picture is full of pathos and abounds in exciting situations. It is a portrayal of white slavery methods in New York city as carried on by professionals. The production of the picture is based on the reports of the Rockefeller investigating committee and of District Attorney Whitman's report for the suppression of the white slave traffic.

Still, it is better to neglect to write letters than to write the wrong kind.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grownups in each package.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store.

MINNESOTA SPLITS ITS DELEGATION

Seven Republicans, Two Democrats and One Bull Moose Go to Congress

ST. PAUL, Nov. 5.—Returns today indicated two democrats, one progressive and seven republicans would represent Minnesota in congress. They are: First district, Sidney Anderson, republican; Second, F. F. Ellsworth, republican; Third, G. R. Davis, republican; C. C. VanDyke, democrat; Fifth, G. R. Smith, republican; Sixth, Dr. J. A. Dubois, democrat (probable); Seventh, A. J. Volz, republican; Eighth, C. B. Miller, republican; Ninth, Albert Steenerson, republican; Tenth, Thomas D. Schall, progressive.

Country precincts expected to go republican for governor are failing to lower the majority of Hammond, democrat.

LEGISLATURE TO BE REPUBLICAN

Indications Are that Many of Philipp's Men Have Been Sent to Both Houses of Law Makers

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 5.—Indications are that many of the old "nineteen-niners" who marched out of the assembly and senate when the progressives secured complete control, have been returned to the senate and assembly.

Both houses, it is claimed here, will be republican and for Philipp.

It is said, however, that in the senate, Philipp will have no cinch on the proceedings and that many of those who have been sent in new will vote with the progressives as often as with the conservatives.

TELEPHONE OFFICE GATHERS RETURNS

Election returns from the county precincts were received at the new 'phone office, the newspapers and republican headquarters, and active work was done at the telephone office, where they had access to the country districts.

In general the sixteen precincts outside the city came in considerably before the city wards, although complete returns from Barre and the returns from the town of Burns were not received until the morning.

It was after 10 p. m. before any returns were received from the wards in the city and at 1 a. m. a half dozen wards were still unheard from. The Ninth and Eighteenth ward returns were the last and it was 2:30 in the morning before the twenty-five men at the telephone office got the final figures from the Eighteenth and went to their homes.

We refuse to judge a man's character by his actions in public.

SUE "COPPER" FOR ARREST OF YOUNG

Frank Winter Brings Suit Against Patrolman Johnson on Behalf of Charles Young

Attorney Frank H. Winter today announced that suit would be started against Patrolman Samuel Johnson of the La Crosse police force charging him with false arrest and imprisonment of Charles Young, a local advertising man.

The action will be civil, according to the attorney and damages will be demanded in the sum of $2,000.

The attorney claims that Young's arrest was without warrant, that he committed no offense, that he was taken to the police station, "mauled," thrown in a cell and later released without a charge having been preferred against him.

SHERMAN WINS BY MARGIN OF 15,000

Sullivan Will Not Concede Defeat Until the Official Canvass of Votes Is Completed

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, republican, has been re-elected by a plurality over Sullivan, democrat, of about 15,000, nearly complete unofficial returns shows today. With complete returns from 96 of the 102 counties in Illinois and partial returns from five other counties, the vote stood: Sherman, 376,117; Sullivan, 360,689; Robins, progressive, 193,062.

The republican state ticket apparently has been elected by pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 40,000.

Sullivan today would not concede his defeat. His managers declared they would not accept a verdict of defeat until the official canvass is completed. They claimed Sullivan might pull through by 2,000.

Though no open charges of fraudulent counting was being made by either side, intimations of irregularities were in the air.

GERMANS INSIST UPON ADVANCE ON BELGIAN FRONT

Say Army Is Going Ahead Slowly with Artillery Feeling Out Each Step Forward

BERLIN, via The Hague, Nov. 5.—In an official statement issued today it was announced that the German forward movement in the territory between Ypres and Arras continues satisfactorily. Because of the desperate resistance of the allies it has been necessary to feel out every inch of the territory with artillery before attempting any gains, making progress naturally slow. Several battalions of British troops have been cut off in the vicinity of Arras and near Roye and forced to surrender. The French are being driven back in the vicinity of Verdun and in the Vosges.

Reports from General von Hindenberg describe the situation on the east Prussian front as well in hand. The German forces now occupy the new lines planned and are again holding the Russians in check at every point.

GRAND OPERA STARS FLIRT WITH MOVIES

MAYOR ASKS FOR SUPPORT OF GAME

Mayor Sorensen Today in Proclamation Urges Business Men of the City to Stand by Team

Sentiment among local merchants this afternoon favored closing Saturday afternoon during the football game. Several of the leading business men expressed themselves as favorably disposed toward the proposition, and it is probable that there will be concerted action tomorrow.

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen has come to the support of the La Crosse high school in the big game to be played with Sparta at the normal school field on Saturday. In a proclamation issued today he suggests that the merchants of La Crosse follow the example of those of Sparta and close their places of business that their employes may attend the game. Promoters of the plan have suggested that stores be closed between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 on Saturday afternoon.

Sparta business men have agreed to close their places of business in time for their employes and themselves to catch the special train which will bring the Sparta delegation and bands to La Crosse.

Although no definite results have been received thus far from the merchants of La Crosse, business men as a rule have looked at the plan favorably.

"La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 5, 1914.

"To the Business Men and Citizens of La Crosse:

"The La Crosse high school is a contender for the state football championship. Whether or not they will continue to be such will be decided Saturday, November 7, when the La Crosse football team will play a championship game with the Sparta eleven. The athletic field at the Interstate Fair grounds provided by the state of Wisconsin has just been completed, and is to be used by the high school team for the first time.

"The high school boys have been loyal to the business interests of the city, whenever opportunity afforded. They are enthusiastic about this game, as it is the most important of the season, and as in the past the most desirable to win.

"The business men of Sparta have very generally promised to come with the team to La Crosse for this game. La Crosse ought not permit Sparta to give her team more vigorous support than La Crosse gives her eleven. Let the enthusiasm in the city of La Crosse be as great as that of our smaller neighbor, and let the home attendance at least bear the same proportion to that from Sparta as between the relative sizes of the cities.

"Let those of the business men who can attend the game, to show their support of the team, and let those who cannot attend afford opportunity for their employes to attend, to the end that our high school football team shall not fail for lack of moral support and encouragement.

"Let us help our team win.

(Signed)

"ORI J. SORENSEN, Mayor."

BELGIANS CLAIM DEFINITE DEFEAT OF BAVARIAN ARMY

Say German Force Has Been Hurled Back in Attempt to Cut Their Way Through to Dunkirk

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Definite defeat of the Bavarian army which attempted to hack its way through to Dunkirk from northern Belgium, is claimed by the Belgian army, which bore the brunt of the battle. The Germans, it is stated in dispatches from Havre, the temporary Belgian capital, have retired to entrenched lines to the west and extending inland from just south of Ostend.

To Avoid Lowlands.

The Germans are now concentrating on a new line and their reinforcements are being massed again around Ypres, Lille and Arras. It is believed that they will endeavor to reach the sea from this section, where they will not be subject to flooding of the country. It was the action of the Belgians in cutting the Yser dykes that caused the German rout on the extreme left of the allied lines. Hundreds of men were drowned there.

SOCIALISTS WIN COUNTY OFFICES

Bi-partisan Arrangement in Milwaukee Flunks and Zabel Is Again District Attorney

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 5.—By the election of District Attorney W. C. Zabel and Edward T. Melms, county treasurer, the social-democratic party in Milwaukee county demonstrated it is not "down and out," as was claimed following its defeat in the municipal election two years ago when the party went against an alignment of democrats and republicans.

This year former Mayor David S. Rose insisted on giving some of his followers a chance at the various county plums with the result that the bi-partisan vote was split and the socialists proceeded to grab two of the county offices.

Zabel served as district attorney four years ago and received much commendation for his closing up of the so-called segregated district. Upon his retirement it was generally admitted, even among his alleged non-partisan opponents, that he had made an efficient officer.

Edward Yockey, present district attorney, was his opponent.

Winfield Gaylord, socialist, former state senator, still has a chance for election to congress, the contest between himself and present Congressman W. J. Cary being unusually close.

Victor C. Berger, socialist, has lost to Congressman W. H. Stafford, it is claimed.

BROSIG FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral of Miss Frieda Brosig, who died yesterday of heart failure, will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon from the home of J. H. Knothe, 512 King street. The funeral will be private, Rev. J. H. Klaus, pastor of the First German Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will take place in Oak Grove cemetery. Friends may view the body between the hours of 11 and 1:30 tomorrow.

HOLD HETTMAN FUNERAL

The funeral of Christ Hettman, who died Monday at his home, 1127 Avon street, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the home and at 2:30 from Immanuel Lutheran church, the Rev. Julius Bergholz officiating. Burial took place in Oak Grove cemetery.

SAVING LIVES

Never wait for a cold to wear off—it wears away the lungs instead. Father John's Medicine gives prompt relief from colds and throat and lung troubles.

REPUBLICAN GAINS NOT SO MARKED WESTERN STATES

Congressman George A. Neely, democrat, is still in the lead for the senate seat vacated by Senator Bristow, republican, but Charles Curtis, republican, will not concede his defeat. Victor Murdock, progressive, ran third. The election of Arthur Capper, republican, for governor, is assured.

In California the democrats apparently won a senator, electing James D. Phelan over Joseph R. Knowland, republican, by an estimated plurality of 15,000. Late returns from Nevada show Senator Newlands, democrat, steadily reducing the plurality of Samuel Platt, republican senatorial candidate, which best available returns put at less than 100.

French Remedy Aids Stomach Sufferers

France has been called the nation without stomach troubles. The French have for generations used a simple mixture of vegetable oils that relieve all stomach and intestinal ailments and keep the bowels free from foul, poisonous matter. The stomach is left to perform its functions normally.

Mr. Geo. H. Mayr, a leading druggist of Chicago, cured himself with this remedy in a short time. The demand is so great that he imports these oils from France and compounds them under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. People everywhere write and testify to the marvelous relief they have received using this remedy—one dose will rid the body of poisonous accretions that have accumulated for years and convince the most chronic sufferer from stomach, liver or intestinal troubles. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by all druggists.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Wheat dipped slightly after the opening today under liberal offers, but firmed later in the forenoon on indications of good export demand.

Corn started higher but later turned lower for May, losing ½c. Figures gathered by a pit leader indicated a crop of 307,000,000 larger than last year and caused a heavy selling movement though another private crop estimate was far below this figure.

Oats started a shade higher but lacked energetic support and declined, going a shade below last night's close.

Provisions were firm and from 10 to 15 cents higher on account of the closing tomorrow of the stock yards because of the foot and mouth disease.

Wheat was under heavy selling pressure in the afternoon and declined one cent to 1⅛c. Corn continued to go lower, losing ⅜ to ½ in the afternoon, and oats followed suit with a loss of ¼c. Provisions turned a trifle easier in the afternoon, losing about five cents of the early gain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE BOSSES IN MEETING TODAY IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—American league bosses were to get together in annual meeting in the Congress hotel this afternoon. Presumably terms of peace or methods of annihilating the Federal league were to be powwowed about, though President Ban Johnson announced that the league was "absolutely indifferent" toward the Federals. Officers of the New York Highlanders were said to be due for a march on the carpet and an explanation of the Frank Chance episode.

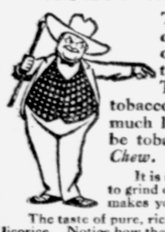
Houses Without Nails.

Nails are not used in building Japanese houses. The parts are joined by a clever system of mortising.

THE GOOD JUDGE WINS A BET FROM THE POOR JUDGE.

THE lean horse for the long race—a small chew of "Right-Cut" goes further, lasts longer, gives more real comfort and satisfaction than the big wad of the old kind.

Men are glad to tell each other about "Right-Cut". Pure, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.



Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Juneau Gets His Men Back Into the Harness After Two Days' Layoff; Cripples Recovering

GELEIN MAY PLAY AGAINST GOPHERS

Veteran Lineman, Declared Ineligible by Faculty, May Be Able to Get in Minnesota Game

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 5.—After two days' lay-off Coach Juneau's varsity football team romped through the first stiff practice since the Chicago game at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon. The afternoon program opened with a signal drill and closed with a half hour's scrimmage between the first and second squads. Followers of football were given their first opportunity to watch the team work in practice for nearly three weeks.

Team In Good Shape

Although still showing the effects of the hard battle with Stagg's men, the team as a whole reported in fairly good shape yesterday. Arlie Mucks, although in the suit, did not get into the scrimmage on account of his knee. Kreuz is still suffering from injuries received last Saturday and will probably not be able to take part in scrimmage for another day or two. Likewise "Boots" Weimar, who has been out with a broken finger, was back in scrimmage again last night.

Gelein May Play

There is still a possible chance that "Eddie" Gelein, the veteran linesman of the 1912 and 1913 squads, may be returned to the squad before the varsity goes to Minneapolis. At the opening of the season Gelein was declared ineligible by the faculty despite the fact that he had an average of 80 in his previous semester's work. Upon application of the department of athletics that Gelein be reinstated it was decided to bring the matter to the attention of the faculty committee.

Next Monday Gelein will appear before the faculty in an effort to show that he can compete in athletics and keep up in his studies. If he is successful he will be permitted to play football. With Gelein back in the game, the Wisconsin line will be strengthened considerable. Even if Gelein is unable to get in the best of condition in the short period of a week, he will be a valuable man on the sidelines to go in case of emergencies.

CORNELL TEAM STRENGTHENED

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 5.—With Shuler and O'Hearn expected back in the lineup for a part of the time at least, Cornell was to have another gruelling scrimmage today—the last before Saturday's game with Franklin and Marshall. Shuler and O'Hearn were mainly responsible for the four touchdowns of the varsity yesterday.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

"NIGHTIE" PARADE BY HIGH STUDENTS

Pupils of Local School to Emulate Pranks of Collegians with Night Apparel March

BIG PARADE BEFORE THE GAME

Rooters Will Be in Reserved Section at Game on Saturday; Team Shows Up Well in Practice

A night shirt parade by high school students through the downtown streets tomorrow evening, the eve of the big battle between the La Crosse and Sparta forces, will open the biggest session of high school athletic festivities ever held in La Crosse. Red and black "nighties" will be the sole visible articles of apparel of the paraders. College pranks will be faded into invisibility.

The event will be followed by another monster parade before the game on Saturday. Members of the Sparta rooting delegation are expected to take part in the procession. As rewards, all taking part are promised seats in the reserved high school rooting section at Normal field.

Win, lose or draw, Saturday night will be one of the gayest nights ever seen here. In the case of a win, the town will be the property of the students to do with as they see fit.

Hard scrimmage last night showed the high school team in excellent condition for the coming battle with Sparta. The forward passing which was poorly worked at Winona, was well executed last night and it looks as though the team will be able to juggle the ball about at will. Every man is on the job with one thing in mind, to beat Sparta.

The halls are filled with enthusiasts, all discussing the school's chances for wiping up the opposing team. Every pupil who can walk, or can borrow crutches, is planning to witness Saturday's game. A record crowd is expected. As nearly three hundred Red and Black rooters' caps have been sold, there will be plenty of yelling on the sidelines.

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—It was officially announced here today that Spencer Almer, star quarter back of the Sparta High school team, will be unable to play against La Crosse on Saturday. The injury to his knee suffered Tuesday night will keep the man from the game for some time, Coach Vaughn announced. Hoffman is working out as pilot and is showing up well under the extra tutelage by Vaughn.

NORMALS STAGE HARD WORKOUTS

Snappy Fall Weather with the Leadership of Art Strum Finds Team Not Lacking in "Pep"

ROOTERS GO TO RIVER FALLS

Team Will Be Accompanied on Last Jaunt of Season by a Number of Their Following

Hard scrimmage with snappy weather finds the normal school football team in prime condition. The new plays that were displayed in last Saturday's game have been worked to perfection. The squad finds that the practice on the new field is better and report that a team that has never played on it should have no objection to offer. Art Strum, who starred in the last game, has been in his position at quarterback and the team never lacks "pep."

Dr. Nurse gave a short and spirited speech yesterday at general assembly encouraging the school spirit. His attempt was fruitful for as soon as he had finished a burst of cheers broke forth led by Cheer Leader Kuehn.

A large crowd is expected to accompany the team to River Falls on Friday. Accommodations have been made to take the rooters across country. The team realizes that this game is their one chance to make good as the western championship rests on its outcome.

The managers have made final arrangements to schedule a game with the High seconds for the Normal seconds. The second team has been doing some excellent work against the first team and the game will be far from a farce. The men who have been out of the game since the first of the year are gradually returning. Ryan will probably be out of the game for the rest of the season.

EAST TO SEE MANY IMPORTANT GAMES

Michigan-Penn, Tiger-Harvard and W. and J. Pittsburg Battles of Much Bearing on Standings

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Football's best offering of the season will be produced Saturday. Three big contests are on the card for the end of the week. Pennsylvania and Michigan will stage an intersectional battle at Ann Arbor, Princeton and Harvard will open the Yale-Harvard-Princeton triangular argument at Cambridge as the chief eastern contest, and the west will see Washington and Jefferson and Pittsburg university clash in the Smoky city.

Unless all signs fail, these three games should prove the best of the year. After a miserable start, Pennsylvania seems to have worked into the winning habit. Michigan, following the battle of Syracuse showed class against Harvard last Saturday that bodes ill for the invading Quakers. Yost seems to have whipped his green line into a formidable defense. With Michigan's line in fettle and 42 centimeters Maulbetsch at half, Princeton should have her hardest fight of the year.

As to the Princeton-Harvard contest there is much room for speculation. Pennock and Mahon will be back at their old place. They should bolster up any weakness the Crimson showed Saturday and prove troublesome to the stiffest defense the Tigers can show. Princeton promises to open up with a whirlwind of forward, double and triple passes.
